

Public-Domain & Open-Access Book Sites

1. Project Gutenberg – Over 80,000 free ebooks (mostly classics) in multiple formats including PDF.

📌 <https://www.gutenberg.org/>

2. Internet Archive / Open Library – Huge archive of books, many available as downloadable PDFs or for online borrowing.

📌 <https://archive.org/>

📌 <https://openlibrary.org/>

3. Google Books (Free section) – Offers many older books fully available as PDFs (public domain).

📌 <https://books.google.com/> (Search → filter by Free Google eBooks)

4. ManyBooks – Free public-domain and creative-commons books, available in PDF, ePub, etc.

📌 <https://manybooks.net/>

5. Standard Ebooks – Carefully formatted public-domain ebooks – many with PDF options.

📌 <https://standardebooks.org/>

6. Feedbooks – Public Domain – Classic works available in PDF.

📌 <https://www.feedbooks.com/publicdomain>

7. Bartleby – Reference classics and literature in PDF/HTML.

📌 <https://www.bartleby.com/>

8. LibriVox (Audio, with texts) – Free public-domain audiobooks with downloadable texts; you can often get the text PDF from the linked sources.

📌 <https://librivox.org/>

Open Access & Academic Books

9. Directory of Open Access Books (DOAB) – Scholarly books freely available under open licenses.

📌 <https://www.doabooks.org/>

10. OpenStax – Free PDF textbooks
(mostly academic).

📌 <https://openstax.org/>

11. BookBoon – Free textbooks & business ebooks (free with registration).

📌 <https://bookboon.com/>

12. PDF Drive – Search engine for free
PDFs – mostly public domain/author-shared, but double-check copyright status before download.

📌 <https://www.pdfdrive.com/>

 Specialized Collections

13. HathiTrust Digital Library – Extensive digital library with many public-domain PDF downloads.

📌 <https://www.hathitrust.org/>

14. Wikibooks / Wikisource – User-created open books and source texts in the public domain.

📌 <https://wikibooks.org/>

📌 <https://wikisource.org/>

